Based on information from the Commonwealth Department of Health, updated 30 July 2020:

You are at high risk of severe illness from COVID-19 if you:

- are 70 years of age or over
- have had an organ transplant and are on immune suppressive therapy
- have had a bone marrow transplant in the last 24 months
- are on immune suppressive therapy for graft versus host disease
- have blood cancer eg leukaemia, lymphoma or myelodysplastic syndrome (diagnosed within the last 5 years)
- are having chemotherapy or radiotherapy

You are at moderate risk of severe illness from COVID-19 if you have:

- chronic renal (kidney) failure
- heart disease (coronary heart disease or failure)
- chronic lung disease (excludes mild or moderate asthma)
- a non-haematological cancer (diagnosed in the last 12 months)
- diabetes
- severe obesity with a BMI ≥ 40 kg/m²
- chronic liver disease
- some neurological conditions (stroke, dementia, other) (speak to your doctor about your risk)
- some chronic inflammatory conditions and treatments (speak to your doctor about your risk)
- other primary or acquired immunodeficiency (speak to your doctor about your risk)
- poorly controlled blood pressure (may increase risk –speak to your doctor)

The Commonwealth Department of Health advice is that people at increased risk of moderate or severe illness due to COVID-19 can still work or volunteer, particularly where there are few or no local cases.

If Government advice changes, and/or there is an increasing number of local cases you will be contacted and asked to reconsider.
